Randy Lewis
Author
‘No Greatness Without Goodness’

Wednesday, March 2, 4:30 pm
LeCraw Auditorium, Scheller College of Business

This event is sponsored by the Institute for Leadership and Entrepreneurship in collaboration with the Ray C. Anderson Center for Sustainable Business and the Georgia Tech Center for Serve-Learn-Sustain.

Before retiring in 2013, as Senior Vice President he led Walgreens’ logistics division for sixteen years as the chain grew from 1,500 to 8,000 stores with the most advanced logistics network in its industry. Believing that people with disabilities could do more, he also pioneered a disability employment model in its distribution centers that resulted in ten percent of its workforce consisting of people with disabilities (1,000+ PWDs). This initiative is being rolled out nationwide in Walgreen stores across America, changing the lives of thousands and serving as a model for other employers in the U.S. and abroad including large employers such as P&G, Lowe’s, Meijer and Marks & Spencer (UK).

Randy has shared the story across the U.S., Canada and abroad on how steward leadership can both improve performance and benefit the community. His book, No Greatness Without Goodness, recounts the story of what led him to create the Walgreens Model that has been referred to as the “gold standard of disability hiring” and how he was able garner the support to make it successful.

Please join us on Wednesday, March 2 at 4:30pm at the Scheller College of Business, LeCraw Auditorium, for Randy’s talk and Q&A. The LeCraw Auditorium is on the first floor to the left as you enter through the main entrance (800 West Peachtree St. NW, Atlanta, GA 30308). Detailed direction and parking information available here. Free and open to the public, no rsvp required.
