Darrell Glasco assists social enterprises in determining what, if any, financing strategy best fits their needs. He also assists organizations with fundraising preparation. His work focuses on social enterprises that are trying to create a positive social fabric and safety net, which values people and the environment.

Darrell has a background spanning various roles in industries such as architecture, banking, economic development, finance, urban planning and venture capital. Based on his work with private equity and venture capital funds at Silicon Valley Bank, he developed a thorough understanding of the factors involved in making entrepreneurial and social entrepreneurial enterprises fundable.

He has been blessed to be able to work side-by-side with great friends, solving real problems, while trying to make the world a better place in a sustainable way.
